from various publishers - 21st Century Heros, Main Street USA, Twilight Street, Bargain Wheels, Panzerkämpfrüstung 62 Ausf G Battlesuit, Papertown, Paper Violence - all paper minis of varying degrees of complexity - <http://www.rpgnow.com>

Sparks paper mini fonts - <http://www222.pair.com/sjohn/sparks.htm>

and if you have the wherewithall to actually work your way through all 1,296 manufacturer entries, you can rummage on The Miniatures Page for more manufacturers of suitable minis. - <http://theminaturespage.com/man/>

Looking for more vehicles? Diecast replicas and plastic or resin model kits in 1/60(30mm) to 1/76(20mm) scale will look approximately right with 25-28mm minis, depending upon the type of vehicle (a 1/76 scale tank looks more "right" than a 1/76 scale motorcycle or car, for example)

Long Gone Miniatures for your ebaying pleasure

Grendel - Made resin vehicles for at least one scifi game (kryomek), including a recon car that looks very much like the spinner from blade runner.

RAFM - the old large scale Heavy Gear figures make excellent man-sized suits of power armor. They also manufactured some minis for Cyberpunk, a personality (non-mecha) minis for Mekton, both of which were suitable for a modern genre game
